The red, white and blue of the American flag glistened proudly under sunny skies all up and down Coleman Ave. in Waveland on Tuesday as veterans from local American Legion Posts 77, Waveland, and 139, Bay St. Louis joined together to host Veterans Day activities.

Celebrations started off early with a breakfast hosted by the Bay High School Air Force Jr. ROTC at Post 77 and a visit from Congressman Gene Taylor. ROTC members also spoke at the breakfast.

Officials go back to the map on tax sale notices

Landowners whose property was sold can find 'redemption'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Though officials have not resolved the issue of who is at fault in recently publicized property tax fiasco, they did decide earlier this week on a solution to the mess up. Waveland city attorney Zach Butterworth, Bay St. Louis city attorney John Scafidi, and county attorney

Ronnie Artigues signed an agreement on Monday. In what they called a "notice of opportunity to redeem properties," the three entities agreed to re-notify the some 200 to 300 property owners who stand to lose property as a result of a tax sale held in August of 2000 by the tax assessor's office acting in conjunction with the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The property owners will have at least 90 days - or until - March 15 to redeem their property.

Property with unpaid taxes for 1999 were sold in the 2000 sale. Under normal circumstances, prop-

Feelings mixed on school uniforms

BY SHANNON JENKINS

As the Hancock County School Board continues to tweak its new uniform policy which will be implemented next fall, other nearby school districts continue to see benefits from their own policies.

In 1999, the Bay-Waveland School District conducted a parent survey to see whether parents would support a school uniform policy, said Superintendent Dr. Kim Stasny.

The survey showed that 74 percent were in favor with 11 percent undecided.

"We had to have a legitimate reason for the policy," she said. "Our two biggest reasons were to promote a more effective climate for

Bay Catholic focuses on Developing the Whole Child through Service program

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Bay Catholic Elementary School has introduced a program to its students focusing on providing service to the community. Service hours are considered a component of Religion and Social Studies education. The objective of this program is to instill into students a sense of community giving and obligation to those less fortunate. This program seeks to lay the foundation for students to become contributing members of the community as they grow in faith.

Service Hours are considered to be time spent performing an activity on voluntary basis for which there is no tangible reward, monetary or otherwise. The activity benefits must benefit: The school; The Church; Community; And individual in need of service.

Students have participated in many service projects since the program was initiated in September:

Coastal Clean-Up
Sixty seven parents and students participated in International Coastal Cleanup Day on Saturday, September 20th from 8:00 to 11:00am. Service hours were awarded for this event. BCE volunteers joined with the Our Lady of the Gulf Boy Scout pack to clean the beach in front of Our Lady of the Gulf. After finishing there, a committed volunteers headed over to the beach near the Bay Waveland Yacht Club. There, volunteers collected almost 10 bags of garbage, including a sleeping bag. The Coastal Clean-up was a great learning experience for the students. It helped them to connect the things they found with not disposing of waste properly.

Seasonal Decorations for Dunbar Village

Fourth Grade students in Mrs. Merrigan's and Mrs. Seay's classes at Bay Catholic prepared seasonal decorations to brighten the rooms of residents at Dunbar Village. In September, Fall scarecrows were decorated for each resident's door. In October, the students made pumpkins. Students take the decorations to Dunbar Village and present them to the residents. A Thanksgiving decoration is planned.

Cemetery Clean-up

On October 11, 2003, the second grade classes of Ms. Lassabe and Mrs. Gleber sponsored Bay Catholic's participation in the annual Our Lady of the Gulf cemetery clean-up at St. Mary's Cemetery. Parents and students helped pick up old flowers, raked and bagged leaves and beautified the grounds to show respect and love for the deceased in preparation for All Souls Day.

Pet Food Drive

The Sixth Grade classes of Ms. Crosby and Ms. Bouffard sponsored a pet food and supply drive in honor of St. Francis of Assisi. The supplies gathered during the month-long drive will be donated to local animal programs.

Food Collection for St. Vincent de Paul and Hancock County Food Pantry

All members of the Our Lady of the Gulf, St. Rose, Bay Catholic and Our Lady Academy families are invited to participate in the annual Thanksgiving Food Drive. Bay Catholic Elementary has set up a collection area for donations. Monetary donations may also be dropped off in the office.

Students are always looking for service opportunities. Some examples of service that students are able to participate in include playground clean-up, Nursing Home Programs, Christmas Caroling, Food Drives, and Cards/letters to soldiers. Anyone interested in having Bay Catholic students participate in a service event, please contact Bay Catholic at (228) 467-5158.

At the end of the year, the Bay Catholic Parent Teacher Organization hopes to recognize students that have truly embodied the spirit of service throughout the year with scholarship awards. If any individual or business is interested in donating to the Service Scholarship Fund, please contact Rhonda Rhodes at Bay Catholic Elementary at (228) 467-5158.

A Winning Hand for Hope Haven

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Poker players are supposed to be tough guys with cigars and visors. They don't show emotion, keeping a straight face when they are dealt a royal straight flush or a garbage hand. But last Thursday, four "recreational poker players" who are attending the annual "Marge" an event for recreational gamblers, let their poker faces drop when they visited Hope Haven Children's Shelter in Waveland. The four representatives from the far flung group of players came to Hope Haven to check out exactly what the shelter does.

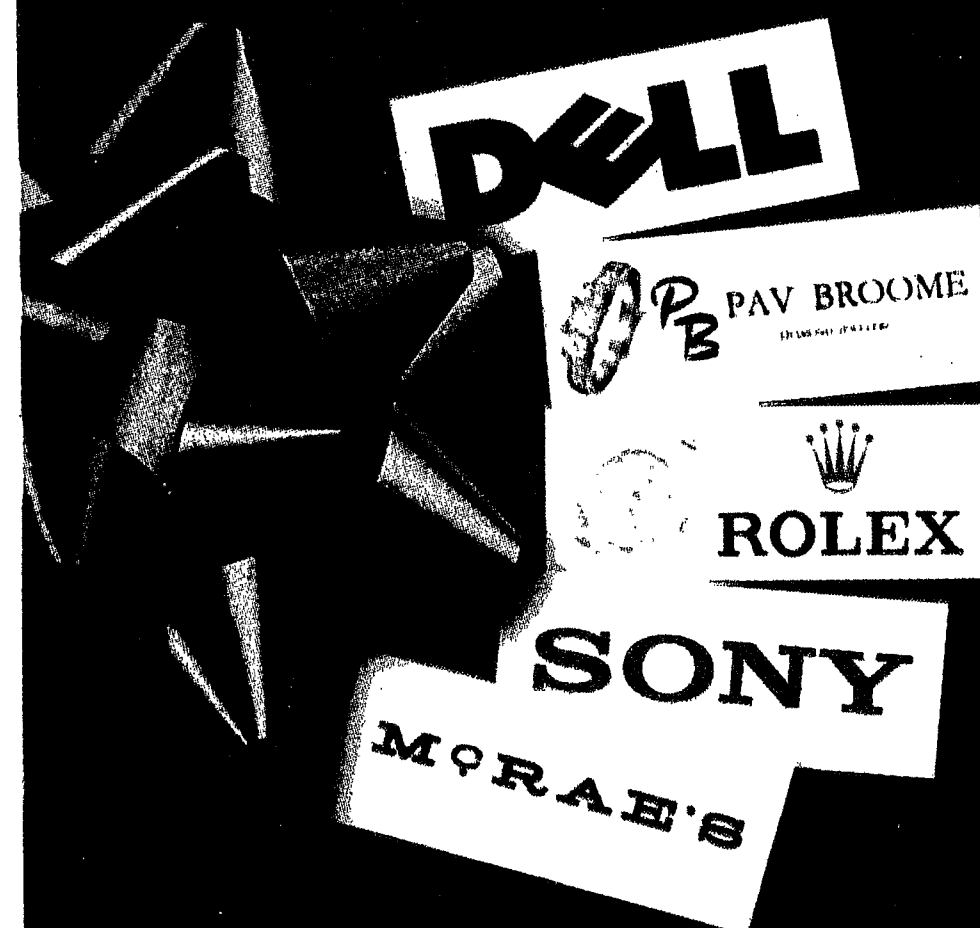

Several years ago they started a fund, called the "Robbie Fund" after a departed player. The money pledged by the 80 or so players who attend the annual three day event was donated to charities who served children. This year, after finding Hope Haven on the Internet, the group chose the local non profit shelter for abused and neglected children based on its mission and reputation.

The four poker players, Randy Colleck, Grant Beardsley, Steve Jewett and local player Mark Hughes, visited the shelter and learned about what it takes to care for children who have been severely neglected and abused. They toured the house and other buildings and asked questions about the Hope Haven programs and even met two of the smaller children who were at "home" at the time.

The men also brought some T shirts and hats for the kids and they delivered the second installment of the money pledged for this year, bringing the amount raised to date to over $2,600. With more money pledged the organizers expect to raise and donate well over $3,000 to the local shelter. In keeping with the wishes of the donors and the needs of the shelter, the money will be used to fund the shelter's summer recreational and enrichment program for the children. The funds will pay for summer camp slots, trips, spending money for the kids and an additional staff member to take them fishing, swimming and on other fun outings.

A Shoreline Park woman was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, Sheriff Steve Garber reports.

Hancock County Sheriff's Narcotics Division chief Major Matt Karl said, "Paula Gonzales, 46, Bayou View Drive in Shoreline

Free boat inspections offered November 15

Student rodeo set this weekend at Hancock County Arena in Kiln

As a regular community service, 33 Bay/Waveland is offering free boat inspections and safety inspection on Saturday, November 15. This will take place at the Hancock Harbor on Bayou Caddy in Lakeshore from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Boat safety is very important, and even folks who operate boats throughout the year can possibly have some safety problem and not know it. It so happens that November 15 is Ramp and Commercial Fishing Vessel Harbor Day. So, commercial as well as recreational courtesy safety checks are voluntary and are performed by qualified Coast Guard personnel who will advise you as to your vessel's safety needs. The service is a courtesy by the US Coast Guard and free of charge; no citations are issued for deficiencies. Boating, I can be compared to flying, as you want to have a perfectly safe craft in all areas. When one is on the water, they are in a completely different environment than on land. The boating courtesy safety checks and safe information provide by the US Coast Guard is a great service to both commercial and recreation vessel owners.

A special event will be taking place at the Hancock County Arena on the Kiln/DeLisle Road Friday and Saturday.

Democrats wonder of survival in Miss.

In the wake of the Republican mini-earthquake that hit the state Nov. 4, not just a few Democrats were wondering if their party can survive in Mississippi.

That question arose after Kirk Fordice sent shock waves through Democrats in 1991, and some said it heralded a mass conversion to the state GOP in the 90s. It didn't happen.

Republicans got a momentary uptick, but by the end of the decade, Mississippi Democrats, unlike those in several other Southern states, still had a decided majority in the Legislature and held virtually all state offices.

In the just-ended 2003 campaign, flashing the old race card through symbols and code words, state Republicans captured the two top state offices and won a

However, the GOP juggernaut came to a grinding halt at the Legislature's doorstep, where Democrats demonstrated they were still alive and well.

State Republican Party chief Jim Herring had made the Legislature his prized goal. He wanted what he called Republican "parity" with Democrats in the state House, and openly predicted a GOP majority in the 52-member Senate.

Rather than strengthening the hand of newly-anointed Republican Lt. Gov. Amy Tuck, as Herring expected, the GOP actually lost ground to the Democrats in the Senate.

Senate Dems were assured last week of having a 29-23 edge and it could grow to 30-22, when a winner is decided in a razor-thin Hinds county race where an entire precinct was uncounted due to an election official's gaffe.

Republicans did gain six seats in the House for a total of 46, making them a significant player in that chamber.

Moving quickly two days after the Nov. 4 election, House Democrats, however, pulled off a coup by strategically rallying more than enough members at the Capitol, including more than a dozen Republicans, to guarantee Democratic Rep. Billy McCoy of Rienzi will be the next Speaker.

Their unprecedented assembling of new and old members behind McCoy headed off a clandestine attempt by Republican Governor-elect Haley Barbour's forces, aided and abetted by several major lobby groups, to pressure GOP lawmakers to try and stop McCoy's speakership bid.

Word got out that many of the 46 Republicans who won seats in the 2004 House were being summoned to a Barbour suite at the Clarion Hotel in downtown Jackson to oppose McCoy for the Speaker job.

Evidently a number of the House GOPers did not yield to the pressure and either showed up in person or gave written assurance they would back McCoy.

Noted for his independence from the seductive influences of the powerful Capitol lobby corps, McCoy had been targeted by two major lobbies, the Mississippi Medical Association and BIPEC, the business-industry lobby, in his reelection to his House District 3 seat.

GOP Chairman Herring had admitted to this column last spring that he personally recruited Dr. George A. Waddell to run against McCoy. Later the medical association, joined by the business-industry lobby and other groups, poured money into Waddell's losing cam-

The Bravest State

BY SEN. TRENT LOTT

In the "home of the free and land of the brave" Mississippians stand among the bravest.

In war Mississippians have been first, front and center, contributing heavily to our military. Like most of you, I am very concerned about our men and women in Iraq. I want to see policies that will get our military folks home sooner rather than later. This is especially true of our National Guard and Reserve personnel who, with their employers, have to carefully balance national duty with their full-time jobs back home. To that end I am encouraging our military leaders to rotate our personnel regularly, and I am voting to fully support our troops with equipment and weapons that will maintain their advantage and protect their lives.

America's all volunteer force depends heavily on the best in weapons and equipment, and a system of shared duties between the Guard, Reserves and regular forces that maintains morale and ensures the means to accomplish any mission. Admittedly this is a difficult balance, but one that is crucial for fighting the War on Terror.

A total of 12 Mississippi National Guard and Reserve units have supported our operations in Iraq. Right now the 168th Engineer Group from Vicksburg, the 890th Engineer Battalion from the Coast and South Mississippi, and the 223rd Engineer Battalion from the Golden Triangle, Delta and North Central Mississippi are serving in Iraq. They are joined by members of the 31st Rear Operations Center from Jackson, the Aviation Classification and Repair Depot from Gulfport, and members of aviation units from Southaven, Hattiesburg and Meridian, who are in Kuwait and in various supporting operations stateside. The 2nd Battalion, 20th Special Forces from Jackson have also been engaged in Kuwait, with most of their members back by now.

As I write this, the 367th Maintenance Company from Philadelphia and DeKalb are headed to Iraq, and we must not forget those National Guard and Reserve personnel from Mississippi who are serving exclusive homefront missions. In fact, it is the 204th Air Defense Battalion from Newton County who are currently around Washington, D.C. guarding our nation's Capital from any potential terrorist attack. The 114th Military Police Company from Clinton are serving at Fort Hood, Texas. Task Force Falcon, composed of 177 soldiers from all over the state are activated and providing security at Keesler Air Force Base, Columbus Air Force Base, and Naval Air Station Meridian.

These part-time personnel of our Guard and Reserve and those of our full-time armed forces are the reason I voted in favor of President Bush's request for $87 billion for America's mission in Afghanistan and Iraq. Most of that money, some $67 billion, is directly earmarked for our troops to provide essential equipment and weapons needed to finish the job and to leave Iraq and Afghanistan as stable democracies, instead of terrorist homelands.

Uniformed Mississippians are serving with distinction in the War on Terror, but I am also heartened that most Mississippi civilians are fully supportive of the men and women of our National Guard, Reserves and full-time armed forces. I hope all Mississippians continue to offer prayers and support for our troops. I remember during the Clinton Administration, many conservatives, including myself, were very skeptical about the mission to which President Clinton committed U.S. forces in Kosovo. Unlike the War on Terror, U.S. national interests in the Balkans were very questionable. As in Iraq, the commitment from countries like France and Germany was minimal even though the Balkans are on those countries' doorsteps. Nevertheless, our troops enjoyed bipartisan support. Because of that support, our paigned. When McCoy made his "victory" statement in the Capitol rotunda last week, he produced a list of 114 of the House's 122 members he said were committed to him for Speaker when the 2004 House convenes in January.

Some McCoy allies say the 24-year veteran lawmaker from the rugged hill country of Northeast Mississippi is "too much of a Christian" to retaliate against the organizations who sought to defeat him.

Others, however, recalling a no-nonsense McCoy could sometimes become a pit bull in rough and tumble legislative battles, contend he has a "long memory."

The juxtaposition of McCoy, the blue-collar farming guy out of the Northeast hills against Barbour, the lawyer-aristocrat with the honeyed drawl from the Delta, will prove a fascinating match-up.

Certainly Barbour who in the 1980s was a Congressional liaison for the Reagan White House, won't find dealing with McCoy anything like dealing with bulbous Democrat Tip O'Neill of Massachusetts, then the U.S. House Speaker.

For sure, Barbour will soon learn that the highly independent Mississippi House and its powerful Speakership don't abide gubernatorial tinkering.

Nevertheless, in his remarks last week at the Capitol gathering of House members for his "crowning" as the next Speaker, McCoy sounded a conciliatory tone, saying simply that he "looked forward to" working with the new governor-elect, as well as Republican Lt. Gov.-elect Amy Tuck.

Although they have a solid edge, Senate Democrats last week didn't seem inclined to force a showdown vote over allowing Tuck to keep her closest ally, Republican Sen. Travis Little of Corinth, as Senate President Pro-Tem.

Biloxi Sen. Tommy Gollott, who had been booted from the Pro-Tem job by Tuck four years ago, has a number of senators still committed to him to win back the spot, but sources near him say thus far he has made no move to challenge Little.

How Senate Democrats will use their weight to counter the Tuck-Little Republican duo in the top leadership spots is yet not clear. But several Democrats who won their seats in uphill battles with heavily-financed GOP opponents aren't likely to now just roll over dead. Two come to mind:

• Shannon Walley, a good-looking young electrician-car-penter from Leakesville who could only scratch together $4,000 in campaign funds. He unseated incumbent Republican Sen. Tommy Dickerson of Waynesboro, who had $50,000 in campaign cash provided by big Republican bankrollers.

• Ezell Lee, the 16-year Democratic veteran from Picayune, who was thrown into a snake-like district spanning the state across hard-core Republican coastal territory.

He was thought to be a goner but pulled out a win over his GOP foe by a surprising 4,500 votes. Lee sees now the Legislature has become divided along party lines.

"It's come down to whether you are Democrat or a Republican in Mississippi," Lee says. "And we've got to learn how to deal with it."

troops accomplished their mission, and we must not forget many Americans remain there.

I don't want to see our troops stay in Iraq or Afghanistan as long as they've been in the Balkans, and neither does President Bush. However, most Americans understand that fighting terrorists and establishing democracy in Iraq and Afghanistan is America's most important task right now, with unquestionable direct implications on the personal security of all American citizens. The quicker we can get that mission done, the quicker Mississippi's part-time soldiers can get back to their families full-time, in the land of the brave's bravest state.

School -- new Hancock uniform policy

learning with fewer discipline referrals and increase safety and security."

There was some opposition to the uniforms. Stasny said some parents believed the policy would not make the school safer and some did not want to be told what their children could and could not wear. This opposition, she said, soon "fizzled out."

For the 2000-2001 school year, uniforms were optional.

"It went well," Stasny said. "Those who chose to wear uniforms loved them."

Uniforms became mandatory during the 2001-2002 school term. Discipline referrals actually went up when the policy was first implemented, Stasny said, because there were issues with some students wearing non-compliant clothing.

"We had some difficulty with consistency between schools," she said. "One school may have permitted khaki colored pants made of denim and another school did not. The first policy did not address that issue, so principals made independent decisions. In spring 2002, we (parents, teachers, and administrators) analyzed the policy and became more specific on some of the requirements. For example, the current policy states 'no denim material' which eliminates room for misinterpretation."

By the next school year, everything began to come together.

"Everyone had to get used to it," Stasny said.

Now, the benefits of uniforms are obvious for Stasny.

"The policy has assisted us in decreasing bullying that tends to go on between groups of children," she said. "(Students) cannot distinguish between the haves and have nots."

When administrators look back, Stasny said they discovered that bullying and fights decreased since the introduction of uniforms. She also said most parents like the uniforms since they are less expensive and because there are no decisions to make on what the student will wear from day to day.

Penny Wallin, superintendent of the Picayune School District, said there have already been improvements within the schools since the district implemented a uniform policy this school year.

She said there has already been less office referrals.

"It is good for students and staff," she said of the policy, which was developed to help with discipline and promote equality among students.

"Students and parents do not have to worry about what to wear," she said. "Students appear to be happier, and (they) are very neat and professional looking."

Wallin said one student recently made the following comment: "We do not have to worry about what to wear; we all feel equal. We can talk about other things now rather than clothes."

David Kopf, who will take office as Hancock's superintendent in January, appears less enthusiastic about uniforms than the superintendents at Bay-Waveland and Picayune.

"I would have appreciated having had the opportunity to have been consulted about this policy before it was voted on at the last board meeting," he said. "My first look at the policy approved was this Monday, and it is very confusing, and the intent is unclear."

While going door-to-door during his campaign, Kopf said "school uniforms were not a priority other than some patrons were adamantly against the idea."

"During my research on this topic, I have discovered that there is no improved academic performance in students that wear uniforms and those that don't," he said, quoting from American College Testing (ACT).

Kopf also used "The Effects of Student Uniforms on Attendance, Behavior Problems, Substance Use and Academic Achievement" as published in the Journal of Educational Research by the Department of Sociology, University of Notre Dame as a source.

"There is no improvement in student conduct in students that wear uniforms and those that don't," he said.

Kopf also said he discovered, through research, that school uniforms are typically used in city schools not rural schools.

Clarification

In the Nov. 9 issue of The Sea Coast Echo, a story entitled "Hancock County School Board adopts uniform policy" used the following as an example to illustrate how the policy will work: "... shirts and blouses must be button down with either a Peter Pan/rounded collar or an Oxford/pointed collar."

Knit polo shirts with two or three button closures are also included in the policy.

Taxes -- property problems

erty owners have two additional tax years to redeem their property by paying back taxes, interest accrued on the money owed and penalties or fees assessed during that time.

After that time, the tax sale reaches maturity, property owners are notified of the approaching maturity date, and if they do not redeem their property, the tax purchasers (of the tax delinquent property) are eligible to claim the property.

Tax purchasers must pay for the property at the time of the sale. If the property is redeemed, the tax purchasers receive a refund of their purchase price plus the interest accrued over the waiting period, said Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar.

In the case of the properties in question, no notice of approaching maturity was mailed out. Property owners were notified that their properties were about to be sold in a tax sale in 2000, but the maturity notices were snagged in a web of red tape that resulted from a change in the way the county handles delinquent taxes. In the past, each city and the county handled their own notifications and collections separately. The responsibility changed hands in October of 2001, putting the responsibility of all notifications into the county's lap, but somehow those caught in the middle of the changeover were forgotten, by all the entities.

All redemptions will be handled through the Chancery Clerk's office at the Hancock County Courthouse on Main St. in Bay St. Louis. For more information call the office at 228-467-5404.

After the parade everyone gathered at Post 77 to

To finish the day an American Flag Retirement Ceremony was held at the Veterans Memorial on the beach at sunset.

Winn-Dixie puts fresh face on Coast stores, invests in community

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Over the past 18 months a complete transformation has taken place at each of the eight Winn-Dixie stores along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The market-wide remodeling program includes improved lighting, new displays and in some cases new departments in an effort to provide customers the best supermarket in the neighborhood.

Winn-Dixie's remodeled stores are designed to bring the Mississippi Gulf Coast a shopping experience unlike any other in the area. From a wider variety of products to new services, such as self-checkout lanes and kitchen centers, Winn-Dixie aims to set a new standard in grocery shopping that couples exceptional value with the convenience of one-stop shopping.

"As the Mississippi Gulf Coast and the needs of its residents grow, so must Winn-Dixie," said Michael Istre, Division Manager, Winn-Dixie New Orleans. "Whether our customers are residents who shop at our stores weekly or vacationing tourists, we want to provide the best food, prices and people to fulfill their needs. Not only does remodeling our stores allow Winn-Dixie to offer unmatched services, but it also enables us to contribute to the area's economic growth and prosperity."

Each of the stores have been remodeled to reflect the specific needs of neighboring communities. For example, a pharmacy was added to the Winn-Dixie at 40 West Beach Boulevard to bring residents a wellness center close to home. Similarly, Winn-Dixie's store at 2384 Pass Road converted its left entryway into a liquor store, bringing the Mississippi Gulf Coast the only Winn-Dixie liquor store in the state. Additionally, a one-hour photo lab was added, aisles were shortened for easier merchandise access and the pharmacy was moved from the center to the front of the store.

The eight stores also have upgraded offerings across all departments. Deli, bakery, meat, produce, dairy, frozen food and floral sections have been expanded to enhance variety for customers. Special amenities, such as fresh sushi departments, gourmet food kiosks and Krispy Kreme donut cases, are also now available.

In addition, as part of Winn-Dixie's efforts to help the community thrive, the company is pursuing multiple philanthropic ventures to provide local schools and charitable organizations with additional resources. From raising money for schools through its Community Pals program to supporting Imagination Stations in several Biloxi elementary schools to sponsoring the 2003 Leukemia Lymphoma Society's Light the Night Walk, Winn-Dixie is extending shopping benefits beyond store walls.

Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc. (NYSE: WIN) is one of the largest food retailers in the nation and ranks 149 on the FORTUNE 500® list. Founded in 1925, the company is headquartered in Jacksonville, FL and operates 1,078 stores in 12 states and the Bahamas. Frank Lazaran serves as President and Chief Executive Officer.

Jack Schornick, longtime resident of Hancock County recently graduated from Texas Auction Academy in Dallas, Texas. Gas prices headed south

BY BARBARA POWELL
Associated Press Writer

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Retail gas prices keep dropping, prompting travel industry officials to predict Americans may take to the roads in record numbers over the Thanksgiving holidays.

At the same time, there are signs that gas prices likely won't fall much more and could even rise slightly: Prices have increased in the crude oil market in recent weeks, helped by OPEC production cuts and improvements in the U.S. economy.

"For right now, it looks like we will enjoy relatively low gas prices," said Mike Right, a spokesman for auto club AAA, which tracks retail gas prices. "But retail prices are so dependent on things that are less than perfect, particularly the distribution system."

In late summer, prices reached record levels, driven upward by a combination of demand during the peak summer driving season, electricity blackouts and a pipeline rupture that temporarily cut off gas deliveries to Arizona.

But since Labor Day, prices have been falling as demand fell and the supply became more reliable.

In Mississippi, the average Monday for a gallon of self-serve unleaded gas was $1.415, down almost 5 cents from a month ago and 17 cents lower than two months ago.

E.C. Chapman, manager of Obie's Chevron in Clinton, where regular unleaded was selling for $1.39 Monday, said his wholesale prices have been flat for almost a month.

At Cousins Texaco just off U.S. Highway 78 in Holly Springs, the retail price has been between $1.40 and $1.45 for several weeks, reflecting a slight instability in wholesale prices for that area.

"The price might drop a penny or two and then go up a penny or two," said Donald Luttrell, manager of Cousins Texaco. "Steady is good, but you never know what is going to happen."

For now, with the recent price drops, retail gas prices statewide are almost identical to prices a year ago.

By contrast, prices at the pump nationwide have fallen more than 20 cents per gallon in two months, but remain about 5 cents higher than a year ago.

Spotlight On Dining 2003

Attention Restaurant Owners...

Advertising is an investment in the success of your restaurant. Every restaurant has competition, either within the town, or nearby city. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and dine elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their dining habits from one restaurant to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your restaurant.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your restaurant. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know what specials you are offering; perhaps what entertainment you may have and the character of your restaurant.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you can call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community.

Donaldson named Stennis director

THE SEA COAST ECHO

NASA Administrator Sean O'Keefe announced yesterday the appointment of U.S. Navy Rear Admiral Thomas Q. Donaldson, V as the Director, John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC), Miss., effective January 5, 2004.

"Admiral Donaldson is an experienced leader and manager," Administrator O'Keefe said. "He comes to us with a great background in communications, propulsion, Earth observation sciences and remote sensing. Combined with his leadership and management abilities, honed in the naval service, and his record in safety and quality assurance, Tom is a great addition to the One-NASA team."

U.S. Navy Rear Admiral Thomas Q. Donaldson, V, will be the new director of the One-NASA team.

Donaldson was the Commander, Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command (NMOC), one of the 30 agencies onsite as part of the "federal city" at SSC. He was selected for rear admiral (lower half) in February 2000 and took command of NMOC in November 2000. In April 2001, he was designated Hydrographer of the Navy by the Chief of Naval Operations, representing U.S. naval interests internationally.

"No stranger to the Stennis community, Tom Donaldson will bring a fresh perspective to the wide range of tasks at the Center, from Earth Sciences to rocket testing," said NASA's Associate Administrator,

Office of Space Flight William Readdy. "Tom will be a huge asset for our return to flight efforts. I am confident he will continue the Stennis legacy for accurate testing, innovation and aerospace leadership," Readdy said. The deputy director at Stennis, Michael Rudolphi, has been interim director since May 2003. Rudolphi will move to the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., where he will serve as manager of the Space Shuttle Propulsion Office.

"Rudy did a terrific job at Stennis, and he will be a tremendous addition to the Marshall team. His experience within NASA, his time as interim director at Stennis, and his extraordinary leadership during the Columbia recovery effort in East Texas, will greatly benefit our return to flight efforts," Administrator O'Keefe said.

Donaldson graduated in 1975 from the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in Physical Oceanography and Meteorology from the Naval Academy and a Master of Science degree in National Strategic Studies from the National War College, Washington.

His personal awards include two Legions of Merit, three Meritorious Service Medals and three Navy Commendation Medals. He also received four Meritorious Unit Commendations, which represent exceptional teamwork and effort at two shore commands and two ship commands.

He is married, and he and his wife, Debbie, have three children.

Throckmorton named deputy director

THE SEA COAST ECHO

NASA's Assistant Administrator, Office of Space Flight, William Readdy, announced yesterday David Throckmorton is Deputy Director, Stennis Space Center (SSC), Miss., effective December 1, 2003.

Throckmorton was the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center (MSFC), Huntsville, Ala., engineering directorate deputy director. He led a large, multidisciplinary workforce engaged in engineering design, analyses, development, and test in support of the broad array of NASA space flight programs.

Throckmorton joined the MSFC staff in December 2000 as Deputy Manager of the Structures, Mechanics and Thermal Department. Previously, he was Manager, Space Transportation Programs Office, at NASA's Langley Research Center (LaRC), Hampton, Va.

He was responsible for LaRC space transportation-related technology development activities and program coordination within NASA, Department of Defense and industry organizations.

Early in his career, Throckmorton performed extensive wind tunnel tests of candidate configurations for the Space Shuttle orbiter, and conducted research studies of orbiter-unique aerodynamic heating phenomena. He made significant contributions to the definition and understanding of the entry aerodynamic heating environment of the Shuttle, and was one of NASA's principal interpreters of flight data from the Orbital Flight Test missions of the Shuttle Orbiter Columbia.

In 1976-77, Throckmorton served as Acting Manager of the Orbiter Experiments (OEX) Program at NASA Headquarters. Following this assignment, he was responsible for management of LaRC activities within this highly successful flight research program. From 1986 to 1994, Throckmorton was Assistant Head of LaRC's Aerothermodynamics Branch.

He was responsible for management of a broad-based research program. It included the development and operation of advanced aerothermodynamics flight research experiments, and the development of advanced computational fluid dynamics techniques for the simulation of flow fields about vehicles operating at hypersonic speeds.

In 1988-89, he was Director of Base Technology for the National Aero-Space Plane (NASP) Program, NASP Joint Program Office, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. He was responsible for management of all NASP technology development activities performed within government and independent, government-sponsored research laboratories.

He earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Aerospace Engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and a Master of Science Degree in Aerospace Engineering from the George Washington University, Washington. He has authored or co-authored more than 50 technical publications on the subjects of aerothermodynamics testing techniques and entry vehicle aerothermodynamics environment definition.

Throckmorton is an Associate Fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), and has previously served the Institute as Chairman of the Thermophysics Technical Committee, as a Director-at-Large, and as the Director Technical - Aerospace Sciences Group. He serves on the AIAA National Board of Directors in the elected position of Director Technical Structures, Design and Test Group. He has received numerous group and individual awards including the NASA Exceptional Service Medal, the LaRC Outstanding Leadership Award, Astronaut's "Silver Snoopy" Award, and the AIAA Sustained Service Award.

sweep
Ohio
trials

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

The name Panola says it all: this rugged fall- and winter-bloomer combines the best characteristics of pansies and violas.

A 2000 Mississippi Medallion award winner, the Panola swept the awards from other pansy-type crops in recent Ohio trials.

When the Panola was designated the Mississippi Medallion award winner, there were only six colors and a mix. Today the series boasts 18 hot colors and six mixes.

New in our market is the Panola Fire. It is mahogany red and has a yellow flame appearance that will start off small and enlarge as we head toward next spring. That's right -spring. Panolas offer exceptional winter hardiness and amazing heat durability for a pansy-type plant.

Also look for the Autumn Blaze mix and Panola Clear mix. The Panola Clear features flowers without blotches and new colors including rose, scarlet and sky blue, which are not yet available in single colors.

The Panola has inherited the best features of its parents. The flowers are not as large as a pansy's but are larger than a viola's. Plants will grow 6 to 8 inches tall. They are prolific bloomers that may have dozens of quarter-sized flowers at one time. For this reason, they deserve a place in the landscape and in containers on the patio or deck. The sheer number of flowers produced makes them every bit as showy -- even from a distance -- as the pansy.

Choose a site in full sun to partial shade and set plants out in October and November for the prettiest displays. Before planting Panolas, prepare the bed by tilling in 3 to 4 inches of organic matter to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. While tilling, incorporate 2 pounds per 100 square feet of a slow-release, 12-6-6 or similar fertilizer.

Plant the Panola at the same depth it is growing in the container. Planting too deeply will most likely prove fatal.

Preparing the soil and adding organic matter is the key to successful growing. One of the easiest ways to prepare beds for any flower

Lewis captures state title, SSC takes third overall

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw cross country team captured third place overall at the state meet held in Clinton at the Mississippi College course on Saturday, November 8.

Kyle Lewis, a senior from Bay St. Louis, captured the individual state championship and All-State honors with a school record time of 16:05 on the 3.1-mile course. There were over 300 individual runners on the course in 2003.

Other top individual runners for SSC were Troy Johnston in 11th place with a time of 17:15, Kody Cannon in 14th place in 17:25, Bobby Nilson in 15th place in 17:26, Brad Reinhart in 40th place in 19:11, Chaz Singleton in 47th place in 19:41 and Sam Hudgins in 48th place in 19:48. Johnston and Cannon both earned All-State honors for their finish. Nilson missed out on All-State honors by one second.

The team scored 80 points in the meet to finish third overall behind state champion Pearl High School with 25 points and Saltillo High School with 58 points.

SSC head coach Steve Flannery stated, "I am really proud of all these runners because of how hard they worked and moved this program up to a new level this year. This was the strongest team that I have had in six seasons. The field at the state meet was the strongest field we have seen at the state meet. Even though we finished higher in last year's meet, this team performed better. The runners peaked at the right time with everyone securing a personal best in the meet. This team was undefeated on the Gulf Coast this season and won the division title for the third consecutive year. They have proved themselves to be a team to be reckoned with statewide."

The Rocks compete in Class 4A, by far the most competitive classification in cross country in the state. Ocean Springs placed second overall in the Class 5A meet and SSC defeated them all three times they raced them this season. Plus, with reclassification this year Class 4A picked up two of the strongest 3A teams in Pontotoc and Saltillo. Pontotoc finished in fourth place behind SSC.

Kyle Lewis capped a dominating high school cross country career with a state title on Saturday. He also set a school record on the course. Flannery continued, "I am very proud of Kyle (Lewis) and happy for him. This individual state title has been a long time coming. It is a great end to a distinguished cross country career. He deserves it."

Lewis will travel to compete in the Footlocker Cross Country Regional Meet in Charlotte, North Carolina, on November 30th. The top 8 runners at that meet will qualify for the National Meet.

The lights have gone out for 2003 high school Gridiron action

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The 2003 edition of the high school football season is closed for the year. The three area teams still in action last Friday - Hancock, Pass High and SSC - all fell victim to their opponents. The Hancock Hawks ended their regular season with a 42-28 loss to Hattiesburg while Pass Christian dropped their first round playoff game in Class 4A to the #2-ranked team in the state, West Jones, by the score of 28-7. St. Stanislaus couldn't counter the speed of the Quitman Panthers in their 38-16 home playoff loss on Friday.

Hancock ended their season with a 4-7 record which does not indicate how well they played in the toughest 5A region in the state. The Hawks compete in the same region with the #4 (Oak Grove), #7 (Picayune), and #18 (Meridian) ranked teams in the state.

The Hawks implemented a new offense in preparation for the season and had some new faces on the defense. Gone was their four-year starter at quarterback in Brandon Necaise and Ervin Jackson at tailback.

The Hawks found themselves down 28-0 in the second quarter; however, they mustered all their and fought back to score 28 points of their own.

Two turnovers and a blocked punt all resulted in touchdowns for Hattiesburg which contributed to the fall of the Hawks on Friday.

Eddie Bledsoe put the Hawks on the board with a 4-yard run in the second quarter. Justin Ratcliff converted the PAT for the 28-7 score.

Early in the third quarter, the Tigers put another one in the endzone for a 34-7 lead. The Hawks responded with a 9-play drive that resulted in a 8-yard run by Jarrod Barrios. Ratcliff kicked the point after and the score was 34-14.

The Tigers started to drive on the Hawks later when Robert Domke stepped in front of a Tiger pass and intercepted the ball. Domke returned the pick 63 yards for the score. Suddenly, the Hawks were only down 34-21.

The Hawk defense stepped up after allowing the ensuing kickoff to be returned to the Hancock 26 yardline. Despite holding the Tigers out, the Hawks were not able to punch the ball into the endzone on their next possession.

Instead, the Tigers got the ball back and scored on a three-yard run and converted on a two-point conversion to make the score 42-21.

Braxton Necaise hit Paul Verdin for a 37-yard touchdown for the final score of the 2003 campaign. There are many bright spots for the Hawks to look forward to in 2004. Braxton Necaise and Jeremy Thomas, both split time at quarterback this season, will return. Steven Dauenhauer, who caught 7 passes for 140 yards on Friday evening, will return next year at wide receiver along with Paul Verdin. Justin Kopf and Jonathan Lacoste will also be in the lineup for the Hawks.

Linemen returning in 2004 will be Travis Hall, Scott Nesom, Donovan Saucier, and Russell Tanguis.

The Pass Christian Pirates ended their season with a 28-7 loss in the first round of the Class 4A state playoffs against the #2-ranked West Jones Mustangs.

Archie Simms put West Jones on the scoreboard early in Soso with a 2-yard run which capped a 9-play 7-yard drive.

The Pirates were not that fortunate on their first drive being intercepted on their fourth play. Soon after the pick, the Mustangs went up 14-0 on a 28-yard scoring pass.

Following a three-and-out series by the Pirates, the Mustangs went up 21-0 on a 4-yard scoring pass.

Once again, the Mustangs played stingy defense against the Pirates and forced them into a punting situation. The two teams traded possessions before West Jones completed a 34-yard pass in the endzone for their final score of the game. At the end of the first quarter, West Jones led 28-0.

Late in the second quarter, the Pirates got their only score of the game on a 29-yard pass from Jeffrey Hilliard to Chad Musgrove. The two teams went scoreless in the second half which made the final tally 28-7.

The Pirates ended their season with a 4-7 overall record. They lose Tony Henderson, Jake Mladinich, Jeffrey Hilliard, Chad Musgrove, Arthur Anderson, III, Ledeal Johnson, Justin Furby, Broderick Dedaux, and Chris King to graduation.

The Rocks' (5-6) postseason ended with a 38-16 loss to Quitman in between the walls' on Friday evening. But, head coach Casey Wittmann was quick to point out the positives of his squad. He took over the SSC program two short seasons ago and the players have responded going to the state playoffs during that same time span.

Last season the Rocks were the 4th place team in the division. In 2003, SSC placed second overall in the division and hosted a first-round playoff game for the first time. The results are concrete and visible for the Rocks - a - c h a w s . Improvements have been made and plans for more building are in place.

With just over a minute remaining in the first quarter, the Panthers had bolted to a 14-0 lead behind their shifty tailback Mike McLendon who rushed for 232 yards on 26 carries and three touchdowns. However, the Rocks were not be counted out that early.

Following Quitman's second touchdown, Tim Kulikowski connected with Michael Cure for a 57-yard gain that setup the Rocks first score of the game. SSC scored two plays later when Kulikowski found Cure in the endzone for a 7-yard score. Michael Kivlan boot the PAT for the 14-7 score.

The Rocks recovered a loose ball which led to Kivlan's 41-yard field goal two possessions later. With about eight minutes left in the first half, the score was 14-10. That was as close as SSC would come.

McLendon carries seven times on the next drive which ended in a 4-yard scoring run. The PAT made the score 21-10 and the Rocks didn't threaten the Panthers lead after that. Quitman added a field goal just before halftime to make the score 24-10.

The first play of the second half was a 56-yard touchdown by McLendon that made the score 31-10. The final Quitman score came on a 2-yard run to make the score 38-10.

Matt Hoda added the last score for the Rocks in the 2003 season on a 1-yard plunge following a 35-yard run that set up his score.

Hoda led the SSC ground attack with 62 yards on 9 carries. Kulikowski threw for 212 yards on 14-of-32 passing. Cure caught 4 passes for 127 yards and a score while Floyd Dedaux added 5 receptions for 71 yards.

Defensively, Lee Klein was a bright spot for SSC with 18 total stops followed by Jodan Ellis with 13 hits.

The Rocks will lose players like Matt Hoda, Tim Kulikowski, Bob Bass,

Tiny trout giving most of the action

It has definitely not felt like November during this first part of the month. Both water and air temperatures have been steadily on the rise, however the weatherman is predicting a slight cool down over the next week.

Enough about the weather, lets get to the fishing. Action has been steady in the Biloxi Marsh on both trout and reds. However not much of anything happening around Cat Island as of late; it may be next spring until it picks up over there again, however I will probably not miss the opportunity to wet a line in South Bayou on my next trip to Chandeaur.

The trout have been tiny and at times even smaller than tiny lately in both the Biloxi Marsh and the marshes around Ansley. On a recent trip a guest of mine caught one that was only slightly bigger than the live shrimp he was using for bait. However there are many keeper trout to be had if you have the patience and technique to sort through them.

One effective method of getting through the smaller fish is to get under them. Oftentimes the larger trout are feeding under the smaller trout.

The best way to get down to them is with more lead. If you are tight lining a jig head through the current and only catching smaller fish, try attaching a rubber core weight to the main line.

This additional weight will help you get down faster and through the smaller fish.

Another simple method of targeting larger fish is to simply switch to plastics. Glow DOA shrimp are my favorite bait this time of year and sometimes making the switch from live bait to plastics is all you need to start boxing some keepers.

Additionally, fan your casts. When you are working a point and catching only throwbacks, try working a little further up current from where you are catching those feisty ten-inch fish. Sometimes the larger trout are working upstream of the smaller ones, I guess to get a jump on the food.

Finally don't be afraid to try another spot and leave the small fish. As I often have to explain to guests aboard my boat, the only thing we will run out of is time.

Every angler's biggest fear is sitting on a spot waiting for the bite to turn on while the tide is rising or falling perfectly and he is still not catching. Meanwhile we are convinced that nearby the fish are feeding hard and no one is there to accommodate them. This may be the case, so go look for them, and if you find them, do not hesitate to give me a call.

Until next week be safe and please remember to be courteous to your fellow fishermen.

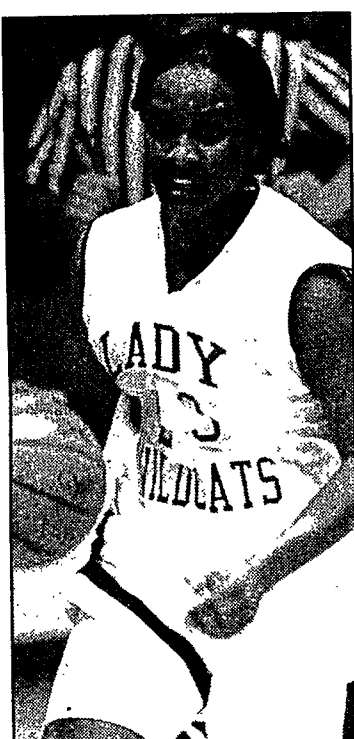

PRCC splits games with Delgado

THE SEA COAST ECHO
POPLARVILLE-Pearl River split with Delgado in women's and men's community college basketball action here Monday in M.R. White Coliseum.

The Lady Wildcats remain winless after two games with their 73-68 setback to the Lady Dolphins, while the Wildcats improved to 2-0 with a 97-61 come-from-behind victory. DCC's women improved to 2-4, while its men dropped to 0-5.

In women's action, PRCC snapped a 6-6 deadlock with 14:35 left in the half when Kira Tillman of Poplarville sank a foul shot, kicking off an impressive 20-7 Lady Wildcat run to go up by 15 points with 5:40 left in the half. But the Lady Dolphins weren't rattled, answering the offensive surge with one of their own.

Candice Gabriel sank a trey with 4:40 left to cut PRCC's lead to 27-16 and that 11-point edge was trimmed to 4 in the final seconds of the half. Carmen Labat of Bay High sank one of her two treys on the night with :07 left to end the scoring with the Lady Wildcats

The Lady Dolphins tied it up at 48-48 with 12:55 left, then took a brief 51-50 lead at the 12:43 mark off one of Meagan Stock's three treys. But Delgado stayed close and tied it up two more times late in the game before taking the lead for good at 66-64 off Latoya Howell's bucket with 2:10 left.

Carmen Labat paced PRCC with 16 points (2 treys), while Cicely Tatum of Poplarville High added 12, Kira Tillman of Poplarville High 8, Ashley Smith of Beaumont, Tex. 8, Nikki Peters of East Marion 5, Julia Jordan of Gautier High 5, Monique Dale of South Jones 5, Nikki Smith of Poplarville High 4, Samantha Flenory of North Forrest 4, Kim Winfrey of Oak Grove 4, Yolanda Hartfield of Hattiesburg High 2.

In men's action, Delgado burst out of the game with an offensive shot that propelled the Dolphins to a 26-12 lead with 7:30 left in the half, but center Ray Salvage of Baton Rouge answered with a bucket that kicked off a 22-6 run that put the Wildcats up 34-32 with 40 seconds left. Salvage sank a pair of foul shots to end the first half scoring with the Wildcats up 36-32.

Freshman Daryl Cohen of Century, Fla., shined during the go-ahead run, scoring 6, while Carlos Cole of Hattiesburg High scored 8, including two treys. His final three pointer gave the Wildcats the lead.

The second half saw PRCC demolish DCC. With some 6 minutes left, Pearl River had built its lead to 30 and built that lead to a game-high 40 points, 97-57, in the final minute.

Cohen and Salvage paced the Wildcats with 20 points each, while Cohen had 3 treys and 7 boards and Salvage 8 boards. Carlos Cole added 19 (2 treys, 3 steals), Jonathan Williams of Stone County 11 (3 treys), Jason Simmons of Hattiesburg High 6, Gabe Willis of St. Stanislaus 6 (1 trey), Ethan Smith of Poplarville High 5 (4 assists), Jeremy Goff of Picayune High 4, Kitt Jones of Forrest County AHS 2, Malcolm Fonerette of Bassfield 2, and Alvin Smith of Forrest County AHS 2 (7 boards).

Basketball & Soccer now the focal point

While football is winding down along the Gulf Coast, the winter sports are kicking into full gear. The games like basketball and soccer are beginning their seasons that stretch into March.

At OLA, soccer has long been the dominant sport. And, it should be for the school that started competitive high school soccer for women in 1990. The Crescents (2-0) defeated Stone County 11-1 in varsity action on November 7 at the Gulfport Sportsplex.

Rachel Cranford scored a hat trick plus one to lead the Crescents. Meghan Flynt added two goals and two assists in the win. Laura Ellis scored twice while Margaret Rittiner, Lauren Renz, and Jane Covington all scored once. Rittiner and Covington also had two assists in the game. Lauren Forte, Amanda Meyers and Whitney Stewart each had one assist in the game.

The junior varsity squad

(2-0) recorded a 4-0 shutout win over the Lady Tomcats in the early game. Cassie Schaffer, Kree Cameron, Whitney Zimmerman, and Annie Giardino each scored in the contest. Zimmerman and Whitney Stewart each had one assist. Lauren Renz recorded the shutout in goal.

Basketball has tipped off in the county with several teams in action. The Lady Tigers of Bay High (0-1) opened the season with a 65-63 defeat against Jackson Province on the road. The Lady Tigers committed 28 turnovers which contributed to their demise. Bay High led at halftime 34-27.

Kendra Reed poured in 26 points, 10 rebounds and 6 steals. Whitney Gladney added 14 points and 9 boards.

The Hancock Hawks (0-1) opened their season with a 62-55 loss to Ocean Springs on November 8. Braxton Rockwell led Hancock with 17 points.

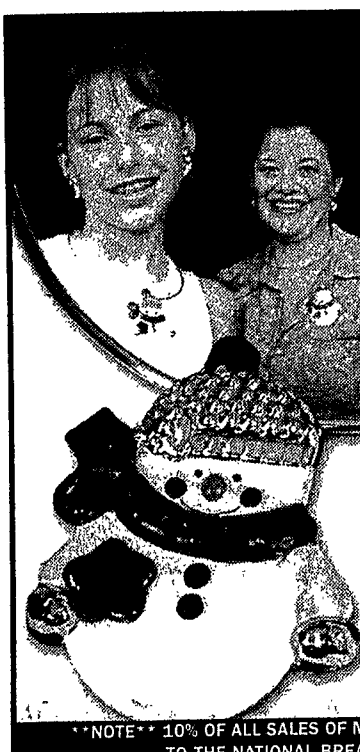

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (2-0) opened their season on the road in the Greenville-St. Joe tournament. The Rocks won the tournament with a 62-44 win over the Leland Cubs and a 69-26 victory over homestanding Greenville-St. Joe.

In the first game, the Rocks were led by Darius Acker with 22 points while Rob Murray chipped in 16 points.

In the game against Greenville-St. Joe, Mario Faranda scored 22 points followed by Murray's 13 points.

There has been no official announcement, but the Sea Coast Echo learned that fire Marshall investigators sent from Jackson to probe the fires found some immediate clues. They know, for example that gasoline was used to start the fires. It was also learned from a good source that the investigators have a good lead on who may have touched off the blaze. There has been considerable opposition in these places--most of it from Picayune, which also supplies the most customers.

The places were ordered closed several weeks ago, but re-opened after only a few days. In all seven buildings were burned. Four white and one Negro bars were involved. The other two were smaller buildings. An automobile was also burned. None of them were insured.

He talked of the civic improvements, community spirit and great need of the cooperation of the people at home in the works of local charities. He said that the local charities fund is a necessary and must be kept up.

-The program for the assembly hour at Bay High was in charge of Miss Iris Campbell on Friday morning of last week. Garden -- panolas is to buy the specially prepared landscape mixes from the local garden center. You've most likely seen public buildings, apartments and malls with some of the prettiest displays in what was a horrendous summer. Landscape specialists buy these special blends by the cubic yard, and you can, too.

Organic matter helps loosen tight clay soils for better water penetration, aeration and root development. Organic matter is important on the Coast and in other locales that have sandy soil. Sand is made up of large particles that cause quick drainage and leaching of nutrients. Organic matter improves the water-holding capacity and helps retain vital nutrients.

Temperatures may still be warm when planting, so make sure to keep the Panolas watered and apply a layer of protective mulch. Panolas are also heavy feeders. Feed monthly with a light application of slow-release fertilizer. Feed those grown in containers every other week with a diluted water-soluble fertilizer. Periodic deadheading will keep the flowers coming.

Panolas combine well with flowering kale, cabbage and snapdragons. Interplant smaller flowered spring daffodils like Tazettas or Jonquils as you plant the Panolas. By the time the foliage of the daffodils emerges, the Panolas will have grown much larger.

For a show-stopping display, plant a large group of single-colored, 24-inch-tall snapdragons, such as yellow Sonnets or Crowns, to the back of the bed with a mass of the blue Panolas in front.

I remember well the debate over whether or not the Panola should be a Mississippi Medallion award winner. It really wasn't a debate. The concern was that these delightful flowers would still be looking good when it was time to

Gladys Knight to perform at Casino Magic BSL

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Grammy-award winning Motown legend Gladys Knight is set to perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Nov. 14-15 at 9 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased for $29.95, $34.95 and $39.95 through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster Outlet.

At the age of 4, she began singing as a guest soloist in church. At age 7 she won the Grand Prize on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour, and the following year, she, along with her brother Bubba, her sister Brenda, and her cousins, William and Elinor Guest, formed The Pips.

In 1959, Brenda and Elinor left the group, replaced by cousin Edward Patten and friend Langston George.

The group was renamed Gladys Knight and the Pips, and following Langston's departure in 1962, the classic line-up was in place.

With Gladys singing lead and the Pips providing lush harmonies and graceful choreography, the group went on to achieve icon status, having recorded some of the most memorable songs of the 60's, 70's, and 80's.

Their hits include: "I Heard It Through The Grapevine," "If I Were Your Woman," "Neither One of Us (Wants To Be The First To Say Goodbye)," "I've Got To Use My Imagination," "Best Thing That Ever Happened to Me," and the No. 1 smash "Midnight Train to Georgia."

Gladys enjoyed another No. 1 hit in 1985 when she teamed with Stevie Wonder, Elton John, and Dionne Warwick on "That's What Friends Are For."

All told, Gladys Knight has recorded over 36 albums over the years, including four solo albums during the past decade.

SHIRLEY JONES TO PERFORM NOV. 28-29

Everyone's favorite TV mom Shirley Jones is set to perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Friday and Saturday, November 28th and 29th at 9 p.m. Tickets may be purchased for $14.95, $19.95 & $24.95 through the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster Outlet.

The Shirley Jones story is the quintessential American Cinderella story. Jones was born in 1934, in Charleroi, Pennsylvania and named after Shirley Temple. Immediately following her graduation from high school, Jones was spotted by a scout photographer for the coveted Miss Pittsburgh Beauty Pageant. She competed and won the title and others before being awarded a scholarship to the famed Pittsburgh Playhouse. Following her apprenticeship at the playhouse, Jones borrowed a mere $160 from her father to move to New York City, promising to return home when the money was gone. That day would never come.

Jones learned that replacement try-outs for the chorus of "South Pacific" were underway at the St. James Theater and decided that the try-outs would be as good as any for her first professional audition.

She arrived at the theater to find over 85 girls scrambling for a place in line. Fifty-one girls later, it was Jones's turn.

The voice of Richard Rodgers, in a rare visit to a chorus audition, came out of the darkness asking if Miss Jones would be "kind enough to wait 20 minutes to sing for his associate, Mr. Oscar Hammerstein." She waited and sang, and the stage lit up. For Shirley Jones the struggle was over. Her first stage appearance was as one of the nurses in that same Broadway musical "South Pacific." Rodgers and Hammerstein then graduated their fresh discovery to a leading role and a national tour in their new musical "Me and Juliet." It was during this tour that preparations for the movie version of "Oklahoma!" began in Hollywood.

Competition for the coveted role of Laurey was mounting furiously and attracting national attention. Along with scores of contenders, Rodgers and Hammerstein arranged for young Shirley Jones to interrupt her tour to fly to Hollywood for a screen test and the rest is Hollywood history.

The movie follow-ups to the "Oklahoma!" came like rapid-fire for the nation's new girl-nextdoor. Jones starred opposite some of the biggest names in the business in "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," "Bedtime Story," "The Happy Ending," "The Cheyenne Social Club," "The Music Man" and of course, "Carousel" in which she starred once again with Gordon McRae her "Oklahoma" co-star. In 1960, Jones won an Oscar for Best Supporting Actress for her powerful portrayal of Lulu Bains in the ageless American classic "Elmer Gantry."

Television introduced another generation to Jones in the four-year hit series "The Partridge Family," in which she was the matriarch of the family's successful rock and roll band.

Jones has headlined at the MGM Grand in Las Vegas and has made numerous summer tours starring in favorite musicals such as "The Sound of Music" and "Show Boat." In 1977, she married her second husband, comedian Marty Ingels.

Shaun, Patrick and Ryan Cassidy, Shirley's three children with late actor Jack Cassidy, all work within the entertainment industry.

In the past few years, Jones has been busy touring the world, performing in concert. She has also accepted some fabulous guest appearances on popular network shows such as "The Drew Carey Show," "Sabrina, the Teenage Witch" and "That '70s Show."

Don't miss Shirley Jones Friday and Saturday November 28th and 29th at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis! Must be 21 to attend.
